Wishes his many thousands of satisfied customers a particularly happy, successful New Year. These thousands seem linked to him in a very personal friendship, due to the departing depression.

However, now that times are brightening, let us not again become careless. By all means give a gift, but by all means make it a useful one.

Give a "Gift of Health" to your dear ones—to mother, dad, wife or sweetheart. Have their teeth needs attended.

It costs no more than an ordinary, soon-forgotten present, and it will be of lasting, thankful remembrance.

From Principal to Parent

Dear Parents:

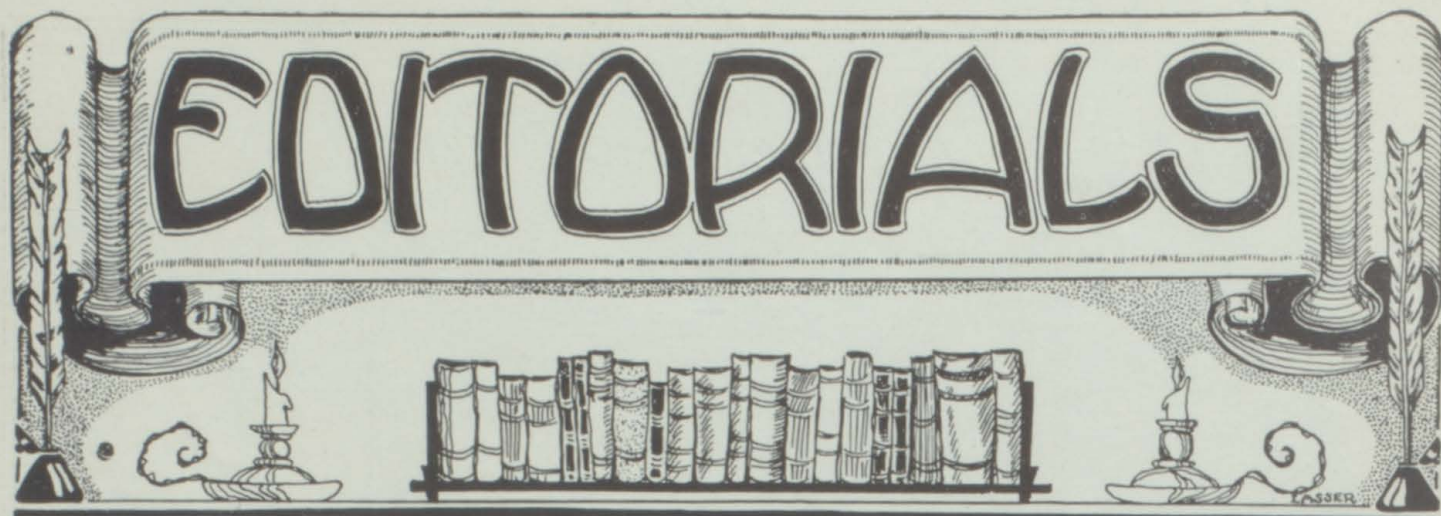

The times are economically awry because we fail to understand how to distribute in proper manner the unheard of surplus products of machine and soil. International common sense agreements as to finance and trade, based upon unselfish social, financial and trade interests will again start flowing the stream of commerce now dammed by international indifference. We know that our well-planned world is not ready for economic, or social destruction because of our present delay of constructive action. The solution of the problem lies in the appreciation of the world situation and the application thereto of constructive thought by the practical scholar of world affairs. The peak of social, commercial, economic advancement has not yet been reached. The star of its best is ever before us beckoning us on encouragingly to the much-longed-for better day for industry and humanity through the education of our youth.

Very sincerely yours,

William Weiner

Principal.

AN EDITORIAL FAREWELL

Once more we adhere to the usual custom and express our last words of farewell. As many others have said before us, it is a hard thing to say good-bye. We can recollect the happy hours we spent in the spacious and well-ventilated two-by-four PIVOT sanctum, that unused closet, originally meant for a spare stock room, and our heart cannot possibly bear the thought of leaving it. Then, again, there floats back to our reminiscent mind the first time the ORGAN was played. We can recall the many times we were given detention for coming late to our classrooms because of some "foolish, insignificant PIVOT duty." Tears of sorrow overwhelm us when we remember that those delightful six o'clock trips to the printer are over, and that we must once more settle down to the distasteful task of getting home for dinner on time. Then when we consider the thought of losing that vague, empty title which goes under the name Honor, secured only by ceaseless toil, long hours, sleepless nights and adverse criticism, there arises a feeling of regret that our period of work is over.

Yet, to become serious, when the keen edge of our trouble has become dulled, and our petty trials have been forgotten, we shall always remember our experiences with a feeling of satisfaction, and rejoice in the fact that we did our best for CENTRAL and THE PIVOT.

With these last words, THE PIVOT board of January 1933 takes its humble leave, trusting that its successors will keep THE PIVOT the impartial and democratic magazine its present editors have endeavored (with success, we hope) to make it.

MINNA LISSEK.

REMEMBRANCE

Is it really all over? Was it but three and a half years ago (or four and five for some) that we were graduated to a high school, namely Central High School? Ah, Tempus fugit.

School friends, enemies, book reports, memory selections, meetings, exams, assemblies, football games, basketball games, track meets, baseball games, favorite teachers, unfavorable teachers, classes cut (?), anthologies, term themes, report cards, late slips, CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL—are these to be forgotten in the oncoming years of which we are the citizens and voters?

Some day in the future, not so long off, we're going to think back and get many a laugh from our memories of our school days. Do you remember the time you were caught copying on a final exam? Many of the times you absolutely denied the fact that you were talking. Remember?

And you thought that you didn't have to take detention for being tardy? Remember the notebook or theme you didn't do until the last night before the morning it was due?

I remember the first time I was in Central High School. The occasion was when Market Street High School students visited Central to be entertained by Dr. Smith by hearing the ORGAN. That was the early part of 1930. To be one of this large student body was my chief desire, but Time Marches On.

And now—to think that it's all over. Ah, me.

MINNIE POSNER.

A REVIEW

After three and one-half years of continuous intensive study we find ourselves about to leave Central, and preparing a new phase of life, a phase which is dominated by the supreme goal of our ambitions. Although we feel minute and helpless before a massive world of millions of human competitors, yet a mysterious force of adventurous anxiety impels us to go forth, to leave our friends and teachers, and seek by the combined efforts of both our hands and brains to independently attain success. The future lies before us as a dense and mystical haze through which our mortal vision cannot penetrate; the past lies behind us, its experiences, both successful and unsuccessful, stand out as a beacon light of warning tending to influence our attitude toward the future. Let us therefore, pause to examine our high school life which stands behind us, and ask: "Have we derived any benefit from all this?" in connection with those unknown events which will no doubt find their way into our lives.

Although we were encouraged and discouraged, taunted and jeered by such baseless statements as "You'll never get out," yet we strove on facing opposition as it came, with firm bodies and steady minds, and out of all these teachings and confusion we rose up like saplings out of the ground and finally began to bear fruits of knowledge.

Arising successfully from the turmoil of high school life we are now about to be thrust into the chaos of the greatest financial depression that has ever overtaken man. In the midst of this unfortunate state of affairs we shall find surrounding us men, women, and children fighting desperately for bread and for a chance to live. For the sake of all that is holy to you, and for the sake of all the unfortunates, apply those teachings of humanity that you were taught by your instructors. We live, not for ourselves but for the benefit of the human race.

With all the foregoing thoughts and experiences passing into the memory of the yesterdays, realizing the values of all that we have learned, and aware of the conditions existing today, let us face the future confident and unafraid.

ALFRED LOEWENTHAL.

A RESUME

The weeks are drawing near and it will soon be a matter of days when we too will be among those hanging in the "Hall of Fame." And all our so-called hardships and obstacles that have confronted us will gradually turn to fragments of joy. It will be those few hours of bliss that we live through at commencement that will abolish all ill-feelings toward our well-meaning teachers. We shall soon realize how minute our troubles at dear old Central are when we are pushed into the eternal turmoil of the business world. What will an hour or two of homework mean compared to the responsibility that will soon overtake us, and cannot be set aside? What we now call a drudgery will soon take its place somewhere in our hearts and minds and become a sacred thought.

Wordsworth once said, "Enjoy always what you are doing at the present so the past may be a happy one." So shall it be for us who have taken advantage of the many clubs, dances, games and other social activities which have the approbation of our school. Many an evening will be spent reminiscing over those "good old days." So let's all join in to make these last few weeks the happiest days in school.

Here's hoping that this new year brings with it a long chain of happy events.

IDA REISMAN.

CREDIT TO WHOM CREDIT IS DUE

We must recommend the good work of our earnest and energetic Business Manager Bernice Bess Gennet. She has worked tirelessly and has achieved a success beyond our expectations, procuring $200.00 worth of advertisements. We hold her up as an example for other Business Managers that may follow her. She has kept up the family record, for in 1929 Fay Gennet, then Business Manager (now one of our own teachers) made a record for getting ads, and in 1931 Bertha Gennet also kept up the family reputation. It only goes to show what may be done if the pupils take the matter of getting ads seriously. We can't have PIVOTS without ads, and it is up to the pupils to go out and get them in the same way as our Bernice has. We thank her.

J. M.

APPRECIATION

I wish to express my appreciation to those who have co-operated so well in helping to accomplish the work of the Business Department.

My thanks go to Herman Holzer, Assistant Business Manager, and to each and every one of the members of the Committee, Marilyn Miller, Richard Peters, Ruth Rader, and Esther Solkowitz.

First Woman Governor in New Jersey History

Rising Woman Political Tide Observed

Miss Ida Reisman, champion of the poor and down-trodden for the last decade, has been graciously paid by the citizens of the State of New Jersey for her unceasing and noble work along the social, charitable, and educational fields by being elected State Governor in the elections held yesterday. The Governor-elect, yet a young woman, full of vim and vigor, has unofficially piled up a plurality of 400,000 votes over her rival, Mr. Joseph Cohen. Miss Reisman, ending an extensive campaign tour throughout the State, awaited results of her election at her home in East Orange.

Other Election Victories

Mrs. Frances Zimring Lewis defeated Mr. Philip Kasoff for United States Senator. Her wedding stirred both the political and social world, tying together two such well-known names as Frances Zimring and Mr. Lewis. Successfully elected Representatives are Misses Sarah Crastinopol, Adele Zurkoff, Beatrice Bickel, Esther Ontell, Frieda Eckel and Mildred Stein; also Messrs. Christopher Green and Harry Ganek, and Mrs. Eleanor Davis Babyock.

Tuberculosis Cure Found

Stanford University, Palo Alto, California.—Dr. Herman Holzer, after research into the origin, cure and prevention of tuberculosis, has discovered a serum which, when continually injected into a diseased person for a period not exceeding twenty days, renders the person free and immune from the disease. The serum, prepared from the blood of a tubercular goat, is injected into the arm of the human victim.

Assisting him with his noble experiment were Dr. Philip Schanerman and Dr. Alex Schwartzstein.

LISSEK DEFENDS OUTCASTS

Noted Public Leader Leaves for Russia

New York, N. Y.—Mr. Alfred Loewenthal, former Secretary of State, sailed at 5 P. M. this evening aboard the S. S. Leningrad, bound for Moscow, Russia. President Andrew Buczek, who was present at the departure, declined to make any statement as to the purpose of the former secretary's trip. He did state, however, that Mr. Loewenthal would endeavor to promote good will between the two nations.

Mr. Loewenthal is scheduled to arrive at Moscow February 1st, in time to attend the opening session of the Kremlin. From there he will leave for an extensive trip through Siberia and Southern Russia.

It has been hinted in political circles in Washington that President Buczek is considering the appointment of Mr. Loewenthal as Ambassador to Russia replacing the Hon. Max Becker.

Accompanying him were Dr. Edward Otto and Hon. A. J. Casiere.

Screen Star Anticipates Blessed Event

Hollywood, Cal.—As the 1960 census of this city is approaching it seems that the citizens are getting busy and doing their share by bringing more future stars into the world. Here, the first month of the new year, it has already been announced that Mrs. Thomas Privot, the former Miss Ruth Rader, is awaiting the stork.

The announcement was made public at a reception given at the Privot home Tuesday of last week. The guests dined and danced until 4 A. M. to the delightful strains of Matthew Cohen's Moonbeam Orchestra.

Announcement Made Unexpectedly

Miss Minna Lissek, noted woman criminal lawyer, has unexpectedly announced that she will defend the three Alaskan Outcasts exiled from Alaska on January 3rd. She will leave immediately for Vancouver, Canada, where the Outcasts have taken refuge.

The case of the three Alaskan Outcasts has become world-famous over night. For a while it had become the custom in the larger political organizations of Alaska that no ex-convict, regardless of whether he had completely reformed, regardless of the type of crime committed, or regardless of his accomplishments after his release, could ever again enter any political movement in Alaska. The three Outcasts, whose names are not known, attempted to revolutionize this custom. They (believed to be ex-convicts) had gathered quite a sum of money through contribution and honest personal business affairs and tried to organize a new political movement which recognized every honest man. The existing powerful political parties, however, confiscated the properties of the Outcasts and exiled them from the land.

Miss Lissek, who has successfully defended numerous proven innocent so-called criminals, will attempt to restore the properties and homeland of the Outcasts to them. She is now facing one of the hardest cases of her career.

Advice To Lovelorn

Question

Dear Aunt Simpa Thyser: My mother was very strict in my upbringing and allowed me no time for boys. Lately, I've fallen in love with our family counsellor, Henry Roche. He is a fine figure of a man and is thirty-eight years old, two years older than I am. He has made attempts to see me but I've given him no encouragement as I wished you to advise me in all my affaires-des-coeurs.

Shall I encourage him and try to bring him to the point of proposing, or shall I turn a deaf ear to his plea?

Anxious D. Schenk.

Answer

You'd better say yes before it is too late.

Question

Dear Aunt Simpa Thyser: My mother was very strict in my upbringing and allowed me no time for girls. Lately, I've fallen in love with my ward, whose counsellor I am, Doris Schenk. She is a beautiful portrait of womanhood and is thirty-six, two years younger than I am. She has made attempts to speak to me but I've given her no encouragement as I wished you to advise me in all my love-affairs.

Shall I remain a bachelor?

Yours,

Henry Roche.

Answer

Dear Henry: It would be less expensive to remain a bachelor, but think of your socks, shirts, etc. Besides, two can live as cheaply as one if one is a Scotchman.

SOCIETY and CLUB NEWS

Reunion of Rho-Dammit-Rho

Newark, N. J.—The Rho-Dammit-Rho Sorority, which last met in June, held a reunion in Graham Hall last night. There was a short business meeting followed by refreshments and entertainment. Miss Esther Solkowitz was chairman of the refreshment committee with her assistant chairman, Miss Beatrice Aronowitz, as head of the entertainment committee. Miss Dorothy Strebinger started the amusements by an athletic dance followed by Miss Ida Matilsky in an "Apache Fem's" dance. As a closing number, Miss Helen Glucksman did a classical dance with Edlin Terry at the piano. The aforementioned girls came from Michael D'Amato's Burlesque and gave their time and efforts freely for the complete success of the reunion. Only two of the members, the Misses Lillian Ambrose and Ann Lerman, did not attend since they are cruising the Mediterranean. Regular meetings were announced.

Beauty Contest at Bradley Beach

Bradley Beach, N. J.—Hundreds of beautiful women representing the modern version of Venus de Milo assembled in the new vast Polito Palace Auditorium facing the boardwalk. A gala reception was prepared for them. They were entertained, dined, and escorted through the city at the expense of the Bradley Beach citizens.

The long parade of the beauties began at 1 P. M. at the North end of the boardwalk and continued south until 3:30 P. M.

The judges, Messrs. Frank Petre, John Tomaszewsky, Pasquale San Giacomo, and Joseph Rosanski, awarded the first prize to Miss Norma Stein, second to Miss Josephine Mulbacher, and third prize to Miss Lillian Peters, the first prize being Miss America and $10,000; second prize Miss New Jersey and $5,000, and third Prize Miss Bradley Beach and $2,000.

Honorary mention was given to the Misses Ann Korn, Mary Macy, Anna Zekowich and Julia Misuriello.

Famed Scientist Returns

New York, N. Y.—Professor Alexander Blackman, Dean of the Giacomo Institute for Advanced Scientific Research and Learning, has just returned to the United States aboard the S. S. Bremen after an absence of three years. During his absence he has cooperated with numerous scientists of Asia and Europe to study and prove his theory that "All cosmic rays originate in the atom due to countless numbers of electrical sparks that jump the gaps between the electrons and protons of an atom."

Dr. Solly Herman, also of the Giacomo Institute, temporarily replaced Professor Blackman as Dean. During Prof. Blackman's absence, Dr. Solly Herman and Prof. Norman Daigle made a surprising discovery. They observed that the Planetoids of the Solar System, due to some unknown conditions, were disintegrating into gases. Prof. Blackman on hearing a report of this discovery returned immediately to aid in further investigation into this phenomena.

New Jersey Students at Musicale

New York, N. Y.—A number of New Jersey College students gathered at Carnegie Hall at 7:30 P. M. Saturday voluntarily offering their services to entertain a surprised gathering of 5,000 persons assembled in this large hall. They played a number of modern symphonies and minuets composed by their fellow students. The Symphony of the Three Hundred by John Bazentakus and the Minuet in G flat Minor by Robert Schildkraut were the best selections played.

The musicians offering their services were: Kurt Lidle, Saul Lubetkin, Irving Miller, John Nielwocki, Theodore Solomon, Thomas Vitelli, Ralph Zidel, Max Abramowitz, Fred Andlauer, Milton Bailin, Ben Bergman, John Cali, John Coxzon, Isadore Eisen-smith, Alex Davis, Abe Fisher, Harry Ganek and Herbert Jacobs. They are known as the New Jersey College Symphony Orchestra.

The proceeds were to be donated to charity.

Teachers' Convention at Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J. — The Misses Julia Agress, Silvia Bachman, Martha Bayors, Mary Esterhay, Sophie Cheit, Gladys Caines, Lillian Berkowitz, Gussie Bazinsky, Adeline Hanau, Minnie Greebel, Josephine Fronzak, Miriam Goldentyer, Sylvia Snyder, Irene Smith, Anna Schorr, Anne Kamin and Belle Klugerman of the municipal and state schools of New Jersey were among those present at the Annual Teachers' Convention held in this city. The convention was divided into two sessions: namely, morning and noon session. The morning session consisted of election of officers and appointment of committees for the following year. The noon session consisted of a report and discussion of the accomplishments during the year in the line of creative education.

Mrs. Bernice Gennet Kafalas was elected speaker of the convention. Miss Dorothy Dubin was appointed chairman of the Arrangements Committee for the next convention.

A luncheon was served between the two sessions, the caterers being Messrs. Redish and Schlosser. The waiters were: Isadore Miller, Peter De Vitol and Alexander Flax.

Bride-to-Be Miss Lil Schachter

One of the most prominent social events this season was to be the marriage between Mr. Nat Rubin and Miss Lillian Schachter.

The popular debutante has sadly disappointed the bridegroom. It was later known to society that she had eloped with a multi-millionaire.

Women Swimming Meet

A swimming meet will be held at the indoor natatorium in Long Branch, February 2nd. The two leading record holders to participate will be Sylvia Swimmer and Dorothy Fisch.

Miss Swimmer is the holder of the mile backstroke swim and Miss Dorothy Fisch is the contestant who tied for the 200-yard Australian crawl. Admission will be fifty cents.

Dinner Given '33 Athletes

The Central Alumni Association has invited the athletes from the Class of January 1933 to a concert and dinner at the George Targer Mansion on February 12th.

Formal invitations were sent to and replies received thus far from Harvey Braverman, Harry Harris, Katherine Testa, Martha Choma, Helen Grenuk, George Grubin, Minnie Posner, Pat San Giacomini and Christopher Green.

Motion pictures of the 1940 Olympic Games will be shown. Principal speakers of the evening will be Coach Charles Schneider, Miss Mollie Kaufman, Mr. Bauer and Principal William Wiener.

Swimming Champ Wins Contract

Miss Miriam Fisch, noted swimming champ, has announced to the world today that she will accept the offer to enter into the movies. Miss Fisch is the champion of the 1940 Olympic Games.

I. B. L. Manager Suspended

Assistant Manager Advances

The Board of Directors of the International Basketball League have suspended Robert Altunian, manager of the New Jersey Bluebeards, for four weeks or more as the board sees fit, because of a slight infraction of the rules.

The suspended manager had his team in excellent shape for the tiff with Rene Lovey's team next Saturday. He displaced Homer Pope (center) in favor of Stephen Kafalas. Earl Parks and William Francisco were given contracts at an enormous reduction in wages.

The assistant manager, Helmut Kempel, will take Manager Altunian's place until he is reinstated.

Brothers In Draw

Newark, N. J.—A ten-round boxing bout, staged last night at the Bove Boxing Arena, between William Gottlieb and Ira Gottlieb ended in a draw. Both brothers refused to deliver a blow but continually embraced each other. Referee Pete Fashano, awakening from a deep slumber at the end of the tenth round, proclaimed the bout a draw.

Nobel Prize Awarded

Oslo, Norway.—The annual universal Nobel Prize was awarded at a banquet here, last night, to those who had excelled in their particular branch of study during the past year. Many prominent and former winners of the prize were present.

The prizes were awarded at the end of the banquet. Each award was followed by a speech of acceptance and thanks by the winner. The awards were as follows: For Literature, Leo August; for Physics, Dr. Jack Sturm; for Chemistry, Prof. Harold Matlin; for Medicine, Dr. Herbert Jacobs.

ROLICKY RHYMES

James Abramson is one I cannot vouch for
And I can't think of another rhyme more.

And here's our friend Ann Acharr,
Sweet and true with charm to spare.

Bea Aronowitz with her curly hair,
Whenever you look at it 'tis in the air.

Marge Bernstein is quite and nice,
For her I can't think of a single vice.

Beatrice Bickel with her great smile
Makes all the boys walk half a mile.

Rosylin Buchman is one fine girl,
One thing's wrong— her hair won't curl.

He who speaks of Sophie Cheit
Says she is petite and neat.

Annette Corenzuit is plump and gay,
Nice, in her own inimitable way.

Miriam Fisch, the All-American girl,
Has teeth as white as pearl.

A tempting, dainty dish
Is none other than our Dorothy Fisch.

Bernice Gennet is a girl to admire,
Full of pep and full of fire.

Helen Glucksman, a sweet, dark-haired lass,
Knows her "sophistication" will never pass.

A short girl is Sarah Glyn,
But how she tries to win.

Lillian Goldstein is popular and nice,
If you want a favor—you needn't ask twice.

Minnie Greebel is her name,
Bye and bye she'll find much fame.

A maiden fair is Sally Greene,
Some day she may be someone's queen.

There is a boy called Christopher Green,
Very often in Central High he is seen.

Violet Hamill we hear not much of
For quiet is she as the stars above.

Adeline Hanau has tresses long.
Something she wouldn't sell for a song.

There's Barbara Heider, small and petite,
No matter what comes she's up on her feet.

Gladys Harr, a personality flashing,
At social functions she's sure to look dashing.

Irving Harris is very polite,
I've never seen him in a fight.

Harry Harris is our flashy back,
And from Central he's getting the sack.

Rose Hymowitz is a very smart lass,
One of the cleverest in the typing class.

Eva Israel is tall, dark and wise,
Nothing ever escapes her eyes.

Arline Jeffrey has a tongue so stern
She has made many a Centralite burn.

Phil Kasoff, tall and broad,
Wouldn't he look cute driving a 1910 Ford!

Mildred Koffler is a girl of charm,
She's not what you'd call a "false alarm"!

Anne Korn is a buxom maid,
She doesn't need a push to make the grade.

Boys, know ye all Kozak Frieda,
Hard to find a girl much sweeter.

Fannie Kowalsky has dimples galore,
She's nice and sweet and a lot more.

Louise Lambardi, you are so quiet,
It wouldn't look right if you started a riot.

Rebecca Lava may be short
But she's quiet, clever and a good sport.

Charles Lazarus—a name of bible fame—
Is a hard worker and very game.

Beatrice Lehrhoff is a lively girl,
She sets every gathering into a whirl.

Minnie Liebowitz has reddish hair,
But she never goes up into a flare.

Minna Lissek with her powerful voice
Will win your heart with her domineering poise.

With "L" we have Lytinsky, Helen,
What's in your name there's no telling.

Mollie Rice, a friend so true,
An honest girl and snappy, too.

Rose Reich, listen and learn, if you don't know,
When it comes to working you're on the go.

Edythe Reilly is sweet and demure
And her eyes cast an attractive allure.

Ida Reisman is very kind,
We all know she is a find.

Sylvia Rockaway is very well read,
She's a girl who will get ahead.

"R" stands for Ethel Rosenstein,
Never harsh and never mean.

Lilly Schacter has a knack for smiles,
But beside that she is quite without guile.

Charlotte Schultz to us it seems
Of flunking subjects never dreams.

Morris Seibert is a clever one,
He always has his homework done.

Doris Schenk, you're anything but tall,
There are times when you're not seen at all.

Lily Shuster rather gabs a bit,
Tho' we don't discredit her for it.

Leola Smith is a fine athlete,
She is always first in every meet.
